ABOUT ME

I'm a Senior Web Developer based in the Philippines with over 16 years of experience creating websites, web applications, and business automation solutions.

Throughout my career, I've worked on everything from small business websites to enterprise-level membership platforms, eCommerce systems, LMS platforms, CRM integrations, and marketing automations.

I specialize in solving technical challenges, improving website performance, integrating third-party APIs, and building scalable solutions that help businesses operate more efficiently.

When I'm not coding, I enjoy exploring new technologies, AI tools, and modern frontend frameworks to continue expanding my skill set.
